

Sarah Brady

Sarah Brady is the Neuro-Oncology social worker at the Children's Hospital of Philadelphia. She received her Masters in Social Worker at West Chester University, where she specialized in clinical direct practice with an interest in supporting individuals with acute and ongoing healthcare needs. Before joining the Oncology team at CHOP, she previously worked in Kidney and Liver transplant, and in an inpatient physical rehabilitation program for individuals with spinal cord injuries (SCI).